HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM LAST YEAR AND WHAT AFFECTED ITS PERFORMANCE?

Performance

For the 12-month period ended December 31, 2024, the Needham Aggressive Growth Fund underperformed the broad-based Russell 3000 Index, and performed in line with the Russell 2000 Growth Index.

The key factor affecting the Fund's performance was stock selection.

The top contributor was Vertiv Holdings Co. (VRT), which designs and manufactures electrical and temperature control equipment used in data centers and other industrial markets. VRT reported strong earnings as the data center market booms.

The top detractor was PDF Solutions (PDFS). PDFS is the leading supplier of data analytics Software-as-a-Service for semiconductor manufacturing. PDFS suffered order delays on its new product and from its largest customer.

The Fund experienced significant inflows throughout the year.

Investment Themes

The Fund's major investment theme remains the importance of U.S. infrastructure. We invest in the lesser-known "pick and shovel" providers behind engineering and manufacturing. Our portfolio companies sell into data centers, life sciences labs, semiconductor and other manufacturing plants, roads, airports, airbases, power plants, and more. The U.S. has underinvested in these areas, so there could be long tailwinds.

Four areas present throughout our portfolio are: 1) Semiconductor manufacturing, 2) Data Centers/artificial intelligence (AI) processing, 3) U.S. manufacturing, and 4) Defense technology.

We believe the AI buildout is still in an early stage. Economic returns on AI projects could be substantial for productivity and the economy.

Our strategy is to invest in companies that are investing in new products and services, and hold those that are successful.

HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM SINCE INCEPTION?*

The $100,000 chart reflects a hypothetical $100,000 investment in the class of shares noted and assumes the maximum sales charge. The chart uses total return NAV performance and assumes reinvestment of dividends and capital gains. Fund expenses, including 12b-1 fees, management fees and other expenses were deducted.
